Young People Home Treatment Team (YPHTT)

The Young Person's Home Treatment Team (YPHTT) works alongside an inpatient service; it aims to increase the service scope to provide best evidence-based practice for young people with acute mental health conditions and their families, in the least restrictive manner, to enhance patient experience. Home treatment, which implies, "hospital in the home" can act as a bridge between inpatient services and community services, to prevent an admission, or facilitate early discharge back to the community

4. Bereavement Services

The government has produced some support for the bereaved which contains information to help bereaved families, friends or next of kin make important decisions. This has been translated into a number of different languages.

We have also produced a series of guidance packs to support people through the bereavement process, which is made even more challenging during the pandemic.

There are three guides available, as follows:

1. How to prepare for the death of a friend or relative: helps people understand what to expect when someone is near the end of their life, provides tips on practical care and information on where to go for further support.
2. What to do if a friend or relative dies: provides practical advice on areas such as arranging a funeral, looking after an individual's personal affairs and caring for their pets.
3. Where to go for bereavement support: a list of organisations for people to reach out for support at any stage of the grieving process. It includes national, local and specialist organisations, along with contact details.
